

REMARKS/ARGUMENTS

Applicants thank the Examiner for his careful review of this application. Claims 1-21 have been rejected. Claims 1-8, and 18-21 have been canceled. Claims 9, 11, 12 and 13-17 have been amended. Support for the amendment to Claim 9 is found in the present Application, for example, at paragraph 50. Claims 22-33 have been added. Support for Claims 22 and 30 is found in the present Application, for example, at paragraph 35. It is respectfully submitted that the pending claims define allowable subject matter. Applicants respectfully request reconsideration of the application in view of the above amendments and the following remarks submitted in support thereof. Support for the

Discussion of Rejection of Claims 1-21 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a)

In Section 2 of the Office Action, the Examiner rejected Claims 1-21 under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) as being unpatentable over Raivisto et al. (U.S. Pub. No. US 2004/0075675 A1), in view of Robinson et al. (U.S. Pub. No. 2005/0060365 A1).

The Examiner's rejection is respectfully traversed. Neither Raivisto et al. nor Robinson et al. teach or suggest a user action proxy that monitors each service subscribed to by the user for a pattern common to at least two services, as recited in amended independent Claim 9, or a query display that prompts a user to include a particular service in a set of services based on the user's usage pattern of the particular service, as recited in independent Claims 22 and 30. Rather Raivisto et al. teach provisioning services to a mobile terminal based on location, time of day, or user profile state set during configuration of the mobile terminal (see page 6, paragraph 55). Robinson et al. teach the context filtering of information based on user context, computer context and communication network context (see page 3, paragraph 34). Robinson et al. define user context as “information about the user” (see page 5, paragraph 48), computer context as “information about the devices in the service” (see page 5, paragraph 52), and communication network context as “information about the communication mediums available to the service (see page 5, paragraph 53).

Moreover, one of ordinary skill would not be motivated to combine the principals taught in Raivisto et al. with those taught in Robinson et al. since, as discussed above, the combined references do not teach all aspects of the claimed invention. Specifically, Raivisto et al. and Robinson et al. do not teach implicitly or explicitly a user action proxy that monitors each service subscribed to by the user for a pattern common to at least two services, as recited in amended independent Claim 9, or a query display that prompts a user to include a particular service in a set of services based on the user’s usage pattern of the particular service, as recited in independent Claims 22 and 30.

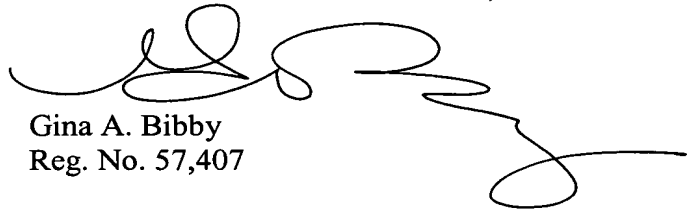

In order to establish a prima facie case of obviousness, the rejection must demonstrate that (1) the cited references teach all of the claimed elements and limitations; (2) there is a suggestion or motivation in the prior art to modify or combine the reference teachings; and (3) there is a reasonable expectation of success. MPEP § 2143; In re Vaeck, 20 USPQ2d 1438 (Fed. Cir. 1991).

Accordingly, Applicants submit that Claims 9, 22, 30, and Claims 10-17, 23-29, and 31-33 that respectively depend therefrom are patentable under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) over Raivisto et al. in view of Robinson et al. Applicants therefore respectfully request reconsideration, and withdrawal of the § 103 rejections.

Conclusion

In view of the foregoing, the Applicant respectfully submits that all the pending Claims 9, 11, 13-17, and 22-33 are in condition for allowance. Accordingly, a Notice of Allowance is respectfully requested. If the Examiner has any questions concerning the present amendment, the Examiner is requested to contact the undersigned at (408) 749-6920. If any additional fees are due in connection with filing this amendment, the Commissioner is also authorized to charge Deposit Account No. 50-0805 (Order No. SUNMP324). A duplicate copy of the transmittal is enclosed for this purpose.
